As the world's first franchise CRO, QED is a truly progressive and innovative organisation. What differentiates QED from other CROs is the way in which it operates globally. QED is the first CRO of its kind to benefit from using a franchising structure. A proven concept in other industry sectors which also allows QED to provide consistent yet streamlined clinical services to its customers.

Thomas Ogorka, Managing Director

With local QED franchise partners in over 30 countries globally, QED can ensure that the highest standards of quality and delivery are maintained by all of its regional representatives across the organisation's core competencies of clinical monitoring, project management, regulatory submissions, site identification and logistical support.

QED's franchise partners who all bear and operate under the QED brand have been established in the CRO / Pharmaceutical industry for many years and as a result have a thorough working understanding and experience of not only their own local markets but also the wider global biopharmaceutical environment.

With a formal QED Operations Manual and Global SOPs in place QED are in a position to define common quality standards across the entire organisation and to guarantee a consistent high quality service. Each franchisee must follow the QED brand methodology, but additionally QED benefit from their unique local knowledge.

QED help pharmaceutical and biotechnology sponsors successfully achieve their clinical trial goals by treating every customer and every project, no matter how big or small, as if it were their own. QED are able to do this because of their highly focused approach and the absolute critical emphasis they place on the provision of superior quality service to all their sponsors. The flexibility of QED's unique but proven model allows them to provide a best-in-class service, tailored to each individual sponsor.

QED achieve this with:

Superior Quality

QED's ultimate driving force is to deliver superior quality services and ultimately data for its sponsors. The unique QED model, guarantees that franchisee operational teams on the ground have a vested interest in successful study delivery and are therefore highly motivated to work on QED sponsor's projects. This results in much lower staff turnover rates, of less than 8% amongst QED clinical teams.

Vast Experience

The QED model facilitates global reach, without loss of local knowledge. Resource is located on the ground in each country, meaning that local requirements, intricacies, processes, logistics, language, etc are all thoroughly understood. QED Project Leaders have an average of more than 8 years experience and QED CRAs, more than 6 years.

Cost Effectiveness

The QED model results in decreased overheads as it leverages the infrastructure and resource of its already well established local franchisees and partners. This allows QED to offer a more cost effective solution with tailored project and/or clinical management depending on each sponsor's requirements.
